Frequently Asked Question: “Do we have the manpower and resources to pull this off?”

Home Missions works through 14 district mission boards (DMBs), which are the heart and core of Home Missions. They are the “boots on the ground” as they support existing missions and work with area congregations to identify new locations for home missions all over North America.

Home mission churches and DMBs are supported by six home mission counselors. They provide onsite assistance to home mission churches and counseling and training to the new missionaries who are called to serve them. This support is crucial in guiding mission churches on the way to becoming self-supporting congregations.

Home mission churches are also supported by various WELS-affiliated ministries that can assist in their outreach as well as a team of individuals in our WELS Joint Missions Office. They are also supported by YOU, the WELS members who pray for them, support them financially, and volunteer in various ways. All the pieces are in place to support this new growth!
